

National Ministry Crews

To use the performing art of mime more extensively and strategically, EPPIC has developed four National Mime Ministry Crews in three different countries to date. The first national team started in 2005 and continues to this day. Each of these ministry crews began with an individual who desired to bring the Gospel-in-Mime tool to their country to engage in outreach work within their country.

EPPIC uses a two-year relational template to train and equip a national ministry crew anywhere in the world. This template involves four separate training periods with time in-between each period to put into practice what is learned. Each period builds upon the previous one and involves review, introducing new sketch material and practice, practice, practice.

To book EPPIC go to our Connect page and use the Booking button to share your information and indicate your interest. www.eppicministries.org/connect